DESTINATION: Pearl Harbor

Local actor Mark Simmons gives this moving one-man presentation and tribute to the soldiers and sailors who were witness to the terrible attack of December 7th, 1941. Vivid, compelling narrative and monologues, as told in the very words of the men who were there: their stories of shock, fear, anger and extraordinary heroism during the 2 hours of terror on the "Day that would live in infamy" make this a harrowing, inspiring and at times, heart-wrenching experience that you will not soon forget.

About the Presenter

Mark brings 30 years experience as a seasoned actor, performing in over 50 different productions onstage, both professionally and non. Mark is an avid lover of all periods of history and has a special interest in World War II history.
