COYL: Conversation of Your Life

You can't always predict when a medical emergency or serious illness will happen and the impact it will have. However, you can prepare ahead for these events by sharing your wishes for care.

Sharing your wishes means talking about what in life matters most to you. It includes finding someone you trust who can speak for you about what care you would want if you are unable to speak for yourself.

Conversation of Your Life (COYL) is a statewide program that is here to provide you with education and resources on how to share your wishes for care and what you need to know about picking a health care proxy.

IT'S TIME TO HAVE THE CONVERSATION OF YOUR LIFE.
